THE TRIANGLE CUPID

A Stirring Romance of the Big West By CHARLES ALLEN SELTZER

Author of "THE TWO-GUN MAN"

Will Begin In

Thursday's Evening World

"The Triangle Cupid" is the best, most exciting Western book since "The Two-Gun Man," which scored so marked a success when it was published serially in The Evening World. "The Triangle Cupid" is a tale of frontier heroes, cattle rustlers, "bad men," border heroines and vivid outdoor life. Read it. Remember, "The Triangle Cupid" will begin in next Thursday's Evening World, August 8th.

How he walked off with statusty, some places weighing fifty pounds, is still puzzling his captors. It is not known that he sold or offered for sale any of his plunder. He rented a barn, used it as a warehouse, visited it every week and feasted his eyes upon the things of beauty which he had stolen. Much stolen property was also found in his horns.

He says he has $16,000 in a local bank, land, injured about the head.

CLOWN IS DYING AFTER FALL IN CELL AT POLICE STATION

Police Tell Two Stories of Accident, Not Discovered Till Man Reaches Hospitai.

Investigation is being made to-day to determine when Isaac Willre, a clown and actor, of No. 1057 Second avenue, received the fractured skull from which he is dying in Bellevue Hospital. The police tell two stories-one that he fell to the street just before he was acrested late Thursday night at Sixth avenue and Thirty-sixth street, the other that he tumbled off a bench in his cell in the West Thirtieth street station. TO PAY BACK $10 LOAN.

The record shows that when Willse was taken in custody no call was sent for an ambulance, nor was one sum-moned until after 8 A. M. on Friday. Nor was the fact that the man had a broken head discovered by the Believue authorities until after he had been placed, unconscious, in Ward 44, known as the prison ward.

The only story that is told at the West Thirtleth street police station it explanation of Willac's mortal injury is to the effect that the clown was brought in there "soused" and was locked up in a cell, on the floor of which he was found unconscious or to a stuper some hours later by a keeper on one of the keeper's regular rounds of inspection.

The police say they aroused Willse enough to get from him the statement that there was nothing the matter with him except that he was drunk.

When the time came to take the mar to court, he "appeared sick" and, according to the police, there was an argument between the Beutenant and the ambulance doctor as to whether the prisoner should go to court or to the
